

PRESBYTERY TO MEET HERE IN FALL

New Albany Body Accepts Invitation of Local Church to Come Here in September.

GRAHAM NAMED COMMISSIONER

Local Man Nominated for One of Representatives at General Assembly this Summer.

Seymour will entertain the fall meeting of the New Albany Presbytery, the invitation extended at the meeting at New Albany yesterday by C. D. Billings and R. J. Barbour in behalf of the session of the local church having been accepted. The Otisco church also wished the honor of entertaining the ministers, and extended an invitation, but the vote favored Seymour. The meeting will be held in September, and will bring more than forty pastors and delegates to the city. It is the plan of the local church to have the newly elected minister, James H. More, installed as pastor during the meeting of the Presbytery here. Mr. More is to be ordained into the ministry in the Presbytery of Chicago this spring.

J. E. Graham, of this city, was nominated as lay commissioner to the Presbyterian General Assembly at Atlantic City this summer. Henry H. Schowe, of New Washington, was also nominated for this honor, while Rev. M. L. Harris, of Orleans, and Rev. Frank E. Moore, of Charlestown, were nominated as ministerial commissioners. One minister and one lay commissioner were to be elected at the session this afternoon.

The Second Presbyterian church in New Albany was packed at the session last night. The feature of the session was a popular service in the interest of Christian education. The Rev. Dr. W. A. Millis, president of Hanover College, presided and the speakers were the Rev. Dr. J. G. K. McClure, president of McCormick Theological Seminary, in Chicago, and the Rev. Dr. James E. Clark, associate secretary of the Presbyterian College Board in Nashville. The Rev. L. V. Rule, chaplain of the Indiana Reformatory in Jeffersonville, delivered the Presbyterian sermon at the session yesterday afternoon, having for his theme "Brotherhood Behind the Bars." The sermon was followed by a communion service conducted by the Rev. Dr. J. B. Garritt, assisted by Frank Braxton, of Paoli. Reports of a number of committees were received.

At a business session yesterday morning the Rev. F. W. Thompson, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church in New Albany, was elected vice-moderator to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the Rev. Charles J. Armentrout, pastor of the Third church in New Albany, who will move to Colorado after Easter.

The following standing committees were appointed by the Rev. F. C. Taylor, moderator; Sessional Records, the Rev. T. W. Wells, the Rev. W. T. Campbell, the Rev. T. N. Todd, I. B. Mount and D. B. Vance; Resolutions, the Rev. Frank W. Grossman and Frank A. Braxton; Nminations, the Rev. D. T. Scott, the Rev. E. C. Lucas and Eben J. Hewitt; Leaves of Absence, the Rev. Charles J. Armentrout and Harold E. Barrett.

The Rev. W. C. Dolive and the Rev. W. U. Guerrant, of the Presbyterian church, South, were admitted to the New Albany Presbytery.

Rev. Mr. Guerrant recently accepted a call from the Brownstown and Crothersville churches, and will soon enter upon his work in this field.

ORGANIZATION OF LOCAL RIFLE CLUB

Ten Members Must be Obtained to Secure Rifles and Ammunition From the Government.

WILL USE RANGE NEAR KURTZ

Target Boards Have Not Been Erected There But Would be Sent by Department of War.

Organization of a local branch of the Government Civilian Rifle Club has been undertaken by Dr. D. L. Prall and he hopes to have at least thirty members before the application is filed. The Civilian Club, it is announced, is to affiliate with the National Board for Promotion of Rifle Practice in the United States which has received the sanction of the department of war and was authorized by congress in 1914. It is stated that the members are under no special obligation to enlist for war service and the object of the association is to afford rifle practice for American citizens for protection at home in case of invasion.

At least ten members must join the local club if the government is to furnish the rifles, ammunition and other equipment. A number of persons have already signified their intention of becoming members and Dr. Prall says he does not expect any difficulty in securing the signature of thirty. The equipment that is furnished by the war department is the same that is used in army service.

The proposed National Rifle Association can work in conjunction with the local company of Indiana National Guards and it is probable that some of the militiamen will join. The Guardsmen have arranged for a rifle range near Kurtz and it is stated that this will be given over to the proposed Rifle Association for practice purposes. Target boards have never been erected on the range in this county, but it stated that if the Rifle Association is a success the government will send such boards to be erected for the use of the members on the Kurtz range.

Application for membership to the National Association will be made just as soon as the required number of members are secured. There ought to be no delay in getting the rifles and other equipment, it is stated, and practice in handling army guns could begin immediately after the ammunition is shipped here. It is pointed out that the National Association was sanctioned by congress and the department of war to encourage a larger number of civilians to become accustomed to handling army guns effectively. Should war be declared by the United States against any country some of the members of the association would, of course, enlist for active service and the practice they had previously received would be a big benefit to them in active service. Those who did not enlist would be better enabled to defend the communities in which they live if the time should ever come when such communities were invaded by any enemy to the United States.

MENGELS, OF LOUISVILLE TO PLAY RED SOX SUNDAY

Visitors Have Several Ex-Leaguers in Line Up, and will Make Things Interesting—Anderson Signed.

Some fast playing is assured the fans Sunday when the Mengels, one of Louisville's fastest teams, will be here to play the Red Sox. With the Mengels are Holden, who was with the New York Americans for two years, and last year with the Montreal International League team, Sands, with Kansas City in the Association last season, Monroe, with the Denver team of the Western League last season, Elwood Harper, Beck, Netherton and other well known diamond stars. Last Sunday the Mengels won from the Oertels, considered Louisville's best team last year.

The local management has signed Catcher Anderson, with Columbus last season, and he will be behind the bat Sunday. Voyls will pitch.

Severance of Relations With Germany Threatened

Washington, April 20—The full text of the American note to Germany follows:

You are instructed to deliver to the secretary of foreign affairs a communication reading as follows:

I did not fail to transmit immediately, by telegraph, to my government your excellency's note of the 10th instant, in regard to certain attacks by German submarines, and particularly in regard to the disastrous explosion which, on March 24, last, wrecked the French steamship Sussex in the English Channel. I have now the honor to deliver under instructions from my government the following reply to your excellency:

Information now in the possession of the government of the United States fully establishes the facts in the case of the Sussex, and the inferences which my government has drawn from that information it regards as confirmed by the circumstances set forth in your excellency's note of the 10th instant. On the 24th of March, 1916, at about 2:50 o'clock in the afternoon, the unarmed steamer Sussex, with a crew of 325 or more passengers on board, among whom were a number of American citizens, was torpedoed while crossing from Folkestone to Dieppe. The Sussex had never been armed; was a vessel known to be habitually used only for the conveyance of passengers across the English Channel; and was not following the route taken by troopships or supply ships. PLENTY OF WORK ON FARMS IN COUNTY

Farmers Are Plowing for Corn and Trying to Make up for the Two Weeks' Delay.

MUCH SEED HAS BEEN TESTED

Wheat Fields in Bottom Lands Are Not in Best Condition—Yield Estimated at One-Third.

With farm work delayed about two weeks because of the backward spring there is unusual activity in the rural districts of Jackson county. Attention is being centered on the preparation of the soil for corn planting. The acreage will be as large as usual this summer, according to the reports which have come to County Agent A. D. Cobb, and the prospects at this early date are excellent for a bumper yield.

Farmers in this county are impressed with the fact that a good yield of corn cannot be grown unless the best seed is used. As a result there has been more seed tested this year than ever before. In some localities this work has been given especial attention and the public schools have been assisting the farmers. The county agent has arranged with the agricultural departments to do this testing for the farmers in the immediate vicinity and many of them have taken advantage of the opportunity.

The agricultural class in the Vallonia schools has been swamped with this kind of work for the last six weeks. Special arrangements were made there to comply with the requests of the farmers and it has been possible to test about 1,200 ears of corn each eight days. Since the testing began more than 5,000 ears have been received. According to the process adopted at Vallonia five grains are taken from each ear that is brought in by the farmers. Each ear is numbered and labeled so there is no possibility of getting the corn brought in by the various farmers mixed. It is recommended that all ears that test less than 100 per cent. be cast out unless there is not enough for seed in which case ears which test 80 per cent. or better are used. The class is enthusiastic over the work and the farmers of Driftwood township are pleased with the results.

The Cortland school through its agricultural department has also tested hundreds of ears of corn in the last month. The same proposition was made to the farmers of Hamilton township and many have taken advantage of the offer. The plan of linking up the agricultural work in the schools with that of practical farming was inaugurated and encouraged by County Agent Cobb who is a firm believer in practical demonstrations.

County Agent Cobb says that the wheat throughout the county is not up to the standard this spring. The fields in the bottom lands and on the clay are in worse condition than those on the sand land. The continued rains early in February were injurious, he said. Although he declared that it is practically impossible to make an accurate estimate of what the total yield will be in comparison to other years, the county agent is of the opinion that one-third of the wheat in this county was ruined during the late winter. He said he based this estimate on what he had seen in various parts of the county and the reports of farmers. Some of the farmers cultivated their wheat fields early in the spring in the hope of saving as much of it as they could, but the time for doing that work is now past.

With a few exceptions all the farmers have finished their oats sowing. In some places the blades are through the ground about four inches. It is said that in a few places oats are yet to be sown but it will be necessary to fertilize the ground heavily if a full crop is to be harvested. The orchards in Jackson county are in splendid condition, according to the county agent. Peaches escaped the winter and early spring cold snap unhurt, according to his reports, and the incitations point to an average crop. Plums are also doing well and apple trees are just beginning to bloom. Most of the owners of large orchard tracts are spraying and pruning according to the most approved methods and as a result the standard of Jackson county orchards is gradually being raised.

AMERICAN TROOPS AMBUSHED BY MEXICANS, IS REPORT

General Funston Refuses to Make Public Complete Report Received from Pershing.

By United Press. San Antonio, Tex., April 20—That American troops were ambushed by Mexicans while passing through Bachiueva, last week, was revealed today in a report from General Funston.

No mention was made by Funston of the consequences of the fight.

Funston refused to make the entire communication public. He said, however, that the detachment commanded by Major Howze was attacked by citizens from the rear near Backineva.

The troops had passed through the village, said Funston, when the attack began. Funston stated Howze was unable to punish the offenders owing to the condition governing the expedition's conduct. Pershing's report stated he had ample evidence against one Mexican.

LOCAL PHYSICIANS STAR WITNESSES

Hypothetical Questions Asked of Seymour Doctors by Defense Attorney in Robinson Trial.

PLEA OF TEMPORARY INSANITY

Hardy Robinson Charged with Murder of Ancil Phillips Over High School Love Affair.

Scottsburg, April 20.—The state having completed its case against Hardy Robinson, of Lexington, charged with the murder of Ancil Phillips over a high school love affair, the defense yesterday began its effort to show that Robinson acted when temporarily insane. Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Huffman, parents of Myrtle Huffman, to whom both boys were paying attention, testified that several months before the murder they had discussed, in the presence of Myrtle, certain queer actions on the part of Hardy Robinson, her sweetheart. Myrtle Huffman identified a letter she had received from Robinson, declaring his love for her, but saying that he always had feared insanity, which was hereditary in his family, and that he was going away. Dr. A. N. Lothrop testified that Hardy had shown traces of insanity for fifteen years.

Mrs. Robinson, mother of the boy on trial, testified that her husband, James Robinson, was in the Central Indiana Hospital for Insane at Indianapolis, eighteen months at one time and later for a year before Hardy was born. She testified that her brother, Thomas Hardy, after becoming insane, committed suicide.

The chief interest in the trial centered in a long hypothetical question asked a number of physicians testifying as insanity experts. The question outlined the conditions the defense endeavored to prove by various witnesses and the circumstances of the killing of Phillips. Dr. A. G. Osterman, Dr. G. G. Graessle and Dr. Gerrish, of Seymour, and Dr. C. S. Hester and A. H. Lothrop, of Lexington, testified that under the conditions outlined in the question a man would be regarded insane. The question caused extensive cross-examination.

At the close of the session Myrtle Huffman and her sister Grace, went to the prisoner and spoke to him. Myrtle suddenly placed her hand on Robinson's and fainted, but was revived quickly.

RUSSIAN TROOPS WILL AID ALLIES ON FRENCH SOIL

Soldiers Picked for Their Bravery to Join Allies in Operations Against the Germans.

By United Press. Paris, April 20—Russian troops picked for their bravery, were landed at the French port of Marseilles today to join the allied troops in operations against the Germans on the continent.

This sensational announcement was made simultaneous with publication of the army order of the day issued by General Joffre sending best wishes to the first detachment of soldiers of the czar to fight on French soil since the beginning of the war. The censor thus far has permitted no details as to numbers to be published, but the French newspapers assume the Russians were landed in great force.

BERNSTORFF GETS LANSING'S VIEWS

Understood That German Ambassador Does Not Take Hopeless View of the Situation.

EFFORT MADE TO AVERT BREAK

As U. S. Request Calls for Complete Change of Policy Numerous Conferences Are Promised.

By United Press. Washington, April 20—German Ambassador Von Bernstorff discussed with Secretary of State Lansing today the possibility of averting a break between Germany and the United States. The conference lasted twenty-five minutes. The ambassador obtained the secretary's views on steps necessary to make Germany's submarine warfare campaign conform with this country's idea. The ambassador refused to comment on the talk which he said was "entirely confidential."

It is understood that as a result of the conference he does not take a hopeless view of the situation. It was known that Secretary Lansing was given good reason to believe that another incident such as the Sussex will not occur while the present negotiations are being conducted.

It was pointed out to Lansing that since the United States has asked for a distinct change of policy in German submarine warfare there will naturally have to be numerous conferences of officials in Berlin.

MARINES ORDERED TO GUARD GERMAN WIRELESS STATIONS

Move May be Made to Protect Them Against Possible Anti-German Demonstrations.

By United Press. Washington, April 20—Marines have been ordered to guard the big German owned wireless station at Tuckerton, N. J., and Sayville, L. I. The reason for the move was not announced, but it was suggested that it was to protect the stations from any anti-German demonstrations and to permit of American seizure of them in case of a break with Germany.

LONDON DOES NOT THINK GERMANY WILL ACCEPT TERMS

General Opinion is That Submarine is Her Most Effective Weapon in Fighting The Allies.

By United Press. By Ed L. Keen, (United Press Staff Correspondent.)

London, April 20—Well informed persons here do not believe that Germany will yield to the United States. The general opinion in London is that a diplomatic break is certain and that war is a strong possibility. This view is based on the fact that Germany has emphasized the statement that the submarine is her most effective weapon in fighting England. For this reason it is believed Germany cannot afford to accede to any ultimatum but may offer concessions to obtain some delay.

The British attitude to President Wilson's note ranges from quiet satisfaction to near jubilation.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S NOTE REACHED BERLIN TO-DAY

her passengers, noncombatants of all ages and sexes, including citizens of the United States, were killed or injured.

Sussex Was Torpedoed.

A careful, detailed and scrupulously impartial investigation by naval and military officers of the United States has conclusively established the fact that the Sussex was torpedoed without warning or summons to surrender and that the torpedo by which she was struck was of German manufacture.

In the view of the government of the United States these facts from the first made the conclusion that the torpedo was fired by a German submarine unavoidable. It now considers that conclusion substantiated by the statements of your excellency's note. A full statement of the facts upon which the government of the United States has based its conclusion is inclosed.

The government of the United States, after having given careful consideration to the note of the imperial government of the 10th of April, regrets to state that the impression made upon it by the statements and proposals contained in that note is that the imperial government has failed to appreciate the gravity of the situation which has resulted, not alone from the attack on the Sussex, but from the whole method and character of submarine warfare as disclosed by the unrestrained practice of the commanders of German undersea craft during the last twelve months and more in the indiscriminate destruction of merchant vessels of all sorts, nationalities and destinations.

Not an Isolated Case.

If the sinking of the Sussex had been an isolated case the government of the United States might find it possible to hope that the officer who was responsible for that act had willfully violated his orders or had been criminally negligent in taking none of the precautions they prescribed, and that the ends of justice might be satisfied by imposing upon him an adequate punishment, coupled with a formal disavowal of the act and payment of a suitable indemnity by the imperial government. But, though the attack upon the Sussex was manifestly indefensible and caused a loss of life so tragical as to make it stand forth as one of the most terrible examples of the inhumanity of submarine warfare as the commanders of German vessels are conducting, it unfortunately does not stand alone.

On the contrary, the government of the United States is forced by recent events to conclude that it is only one instance, even though one of the most extreme and most distressing instances of the deliberate method and spirit of indiscriminate destruction of merchant vessels of all sorts, nationalities and destinations which have become more and more unmistakable as the activity of German undersea vessels of war has in recent months been quickened and extended.

U. S. Protest Recalled.

The imperial government will recall that when, in February, 1915, it announced its intention of treating the waters surrounding Great Britain and Ireland as embraced within the seat of war and of destroying all merchant ships owned by its enemies that might be found within the zone of danger, and warned all vessels, neutral as well as belligerent, to keep out of the waters thus prescribed or to enter them at their peril, the government of the United States earnestly protested. It took the position that such a policy could not be pursued without constant gross and palpable violations of the accepted law of nations, particularly if submarine craft were to be employed as its instruments, inasmuch as the rules prescribed by that law, rules founded on the principles of humanity and established for the protection of the lives of noncombatants at sea could not in the nature of the case be observed by such vessels. It based its protest on the ground that persons of neutral nationality and vessels of neutral ownership would be exposed to extreme and intolerable risks; and that no right to close any part of the high seas could lawfully be asserted by the imperial government in the circumstances then existing. The law of nations in these matters, upon which the government of the United States based that protest is not of recent origin or founded upon merely arbitrary principles set up by convention. It is based, on the contrary, upon manifest principles of humanity and has long been established with the approval and by the express assent of all civilized nations.

Germany Persisted.

The imperial government, notwithstanding, persisted in carrying out the policy announced, expressing the hope that the dangers involved, at any rate to neutral vessels, would be reduced to a minimum by the instructions which it had issued to the commanders of its submarines and assuring the government of the United States that it would take every possible precaution both to respect the rights of neutrals and to safeguard the lives of noncombatants.

In pursuance of this policy of submarine warfare against the commerce of its adversaries, thus announced and thus entered upon in despite of the solemn protest of the government of the United States, the commanders of the imperial government's undersea vessels have carried on practices of such ruthless destruction which have made it more and more evident as the months have gone by that the imperial government has found it impracticable to put any such restraints upon them as it had hoped and promised to put.

Again and again the imperial government has given its solemn assurances to the government of the United States that at least passenger ships would not be thus dealt with and yet it has repeatedly permitted its undersea commands to disregard those assurances with entire impunity.

As recently as February last it gave notice that it would regard all armed merchantmen owned by its enemies as part of the armed naval forces of its adversaries and deal with them as with men of war, thus, at least by implication, pledging itself to give warning to vessels which were not armed and to accord security of life to their passengers and crews; but even this limitation their submarine commanders have recklessly ignored.

Practice is Increasing.

Vessels of neutral ownership, even vessels of neutral ownership bound from neutral port to neutral port, have been destroyed along with vessels of belligerent ownership in constantly increasing numbers.

Sometimes the merchantmen attacked have been warned and summoned to surrender before being fired on or torpedoed; sometimes their passengers and crews have been vouchsafed the poor security of being allowed to take to the ship's boats before the ship was sent to the bottom. But again and again no warning has been given, no escape even to the ship's boats allowed to those on board. Great liners like the Lusitania and Arabia and mere passenger boats like the Sussex have been attacked without a moment's warning, often before they have even become aware that they were in the presence of an armed ship of the enemy, and the lives of noncombatants, passengers and crew have been destroyed wholesale in a manner which the government of the United States can not but regard as wanton and without the slightest color of justification. No limit of any kind has in fact been set to their indiscriminate pursuit and destruction of merchantmen of all kinds and nationalities within the waters which the imperial government has chosen to designate as lying within the seat of war. The roll of Americans who have lost their lives upon ships thus attacked and destroyed has grown month by month until the ominous toll has mounted into the hundreds.

U. S. Has Been Patient.

The government of the United States has been very patient. At every stage of this distressing experience of tragedy after tragedy it has sought to be governed by the most thoughtful consideration of the extraordinary circumstances of an unprecedented war and to be guided by sentiments of very genuine friendship for the people and government of Germany. It has accepted the successive explanations and assurances of the imperial government as of course given in entire sincerity and good faith and has hoped, even against hope, that it would prove to be possible for the imperial government so to order and control the acts of its naval commanders as to square its policy with the recognized principles of humanity as embodied in the law of nations.

It has made every allowance for unprecedented conditions and has been willing to wait until the facts became unmistakable and were susceptible of only one interpretation.

It now owes it to a just regard for its own rights to say to the imperial government that that time has come.

It has become painfully evident to it that the position which it took at the very outset is inevitable, namely, the use of submarine for the destruction of an enemy's commerce, is, of necessity, because of the very character of the vessels employed and the very methods of attack which their employment of course involves, utterly incompatible with the principles of humanity, the long-established and incontrovertible rights of neutrals, and the sacred immunities of noncombatants.

The Ultimatum.

If it is still the purpose of the imperial government to prosecute relentless and indiscriminate warfare against vessels of commerce by the use of submarines without regard to what the government of the United States must consider the sacred and indisputable rules of international law and the universally recognized dictates of humanity the government of the United States is at last forced to the conclusion that there is but one course it can pursue. Unless the imperial government should now immediately declare and effect an abandonment of its present methods of submarine warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels, the government of the United States can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations with the German empire altogether. This action the government of the United States contemplates with the greatest reluctance, but feels constrained to take in behalf of humanity and the rights of neutral nations.

With the note is sent a lengthy account of the attack on the channel packet Sussex, setting forth that pieces of a German manufactured torpedo were found, which are proof that the act was that of a German undersea craft.

Views of Republican Readers

Editor Seymour Republican: It's a rule in court that the plaintiff has the opening and closing of the arguments. In writing the article we did not intend to enter into any lengthy discussion on the road question; neither do we wish to be understood to oppose any public improvements, but do believe that the Cortland road is not the one to improve. First because the proposed Hodapp road is the most practical road. Extending as it does into the western part of the county, leading direct to Seymour, it affords accommodation to the Newkirk neighborhood, the Surprise neighborhood, the Honeytown neighborhood and the Pleasant Grove neighborhood where thousands of bushels of grain can be taken to market, while the Cortland road can only accommodate a few farmers and scarcely any grain is hauled over it.

The Hodapp road is as straight as a line and as level as a floor, clear away from that strong current caused by the railroad grade. I defy any one to show a better road across the bottoms in the county.

The people of Cortland road go to Seymour as well over this road as the other only have to go one mile south and when they go the Cortland road they have to go south one mile to get to the business part of the city.

Bro. Hays uses an argument that the people won't behold the welcome faces from Waymansville and other points as they pass through Cortland. Smiling faces are alright, but the tax payers of Hamilton township are not quite ready to pay twenty or thirty thousand dollars for Cortland people to behold those smiling faces. So come along Bro. Hays and let's build the proposed Hodapp road, the road the people want and then we will build the less important roads. There is but little opposition to this road, while there is much to your road. Seymour will build from Hackman's corner to the bridge. This will make one of the best and most important roads in the county.

DOES NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING PAY?

A large paint manufacturer asked this question of retailers throughout the country:

NO. 3 SAID:

"I believe that advertising in the local paper brings new customers into my store and that it keeps the old ones trading here. I do not trace any percent of sales directly to this kind of advertising.

"I know that everything I put in the paper is read, as I have the people tell me about it. I do know that I bought almost twice as much paint in 1915 as in the two years previous, and that I did more advertising in the paper in 1915."

CASTOR OIL NOW EASY TO TAKE

Doctor Makes New Remedy On Same Principle As Whipped Cream.

The action of cream under the whipping process in making whipped cream encouraged a Cleveland physician to try his hand at making castor oil palatable.

Castor oil though recognized everywhere as the safest and surest laxative, has always been hard for physicians to administer without sickening adults or bribing children.

However, by whipping pure castor oil into a jelly and adding a delicious flavor of orange and lemon this doctor finally succeeded in overcoming all these objections.

Castor oil is the only medicine that should ever be taken for constipation or stomach disorders.

His new preparation is called CASTOR-JELL and is now on sale at all drug stores. It is highly recommended by physicians everywhere. On sale at H. H. Carter Drug Co. The Castor Products Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

VEGETABLE CALOMEL

Vegetable calomel, extract of the root of the old-fashioned may-apple plant, does not salivate. As a liver stimulant, it's great. It's a perfect substitute for ordinary calomel (mercury); in fact, it's better, because its action is gentle instead of severe and irritating—and it leaves no mean, disagreeable after-effects. Physicians recognize this and prescribe may-apple root (podosphyllin, they call it) daily.

Combined with four other standard, all-vegetable remedies, may-apple root may now be had at most any druggist's in convenient sugar-coated tablet form by asking for Santanel Laxatives. If you forget the name, ask for the box that has the picture of the soldier on it.

These tablets are small, easy to take and are really wonderful little performers.

They quickly clean out the poisons that are causing you headache, constipation, sour stomach, biliousness, dizzy spells, bad breath and coated tongue.

They are mild. They never gripe. And they are a bowel tonic as well as a cleanser and liver regulator. A 10c box should last one several weeks. A Physician's trial package (4 doses) will be mailed you free if you write mentioning this advertisement. The Santanel Remedies Co., 802 Madison Ave., Cincinnati, Ky.

TO BARE GERMAN SECRET SERVICE

Inner Work of Spying In U. S. to Be Made Public.

WILL PROSECUTE VON IGEL

Federal Grand Jury Continues Probe—Many New Indictments Likely to Be Returned—New Avenues of Investigation Opened Up by Raid.

New York, April 20.—The complete inner workings of the Teutonic spy system in America—the financial head, the alleged directors of the plots to destroy commerce, the list of the spies who obtained secret information—may be laid before the public as a result of the seizure of a mass of papers in the former headquarters, Room 2501, 60 Wall street, of the dismissed German military attaché, Captain Franz von Papen.

These papers, which were left in charge of Wolf von Igel, the young German army officer, who has been arrested on a charge of participating in a plot to blow up the Welland canal, are said to have furnished the federal authorities with information opening up new avenues of investigation, naming new secret agents and revealing much evidence for which a search had previously been made.

The documents seem to have been entrusted to von Igel, as a sort of successor to von Papen, though with less authority, with power to clean up the work that had been started and then stopped.

The young man was virtually the business manager, it is asserted, of the German system. It is said that he kept in a safe, bearing the seal of the imperial German government, a large bundle of papers dealing with violations against United States laws by German agents and German sympathizers. The reason why the federal agents of the department of justice delayed for one day the arrest of von Igel was because they had a "tip" that on this particular morning von Igel would take from the safe the papers dealing with the Welland canal and other documents and would prepare them for shipment. They learned also that Paul Koenig, also arrested in connection with another plot to blow up the Welland canal, would make a call on von Igel. The agents were correct for they found the papers on the table in von Igel's office and they bumped against Koenig as they were leading von Igel from 60 Wall street.

While the state department and Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, were wrestling over the question as to whether the papers belonged to the German embassy, the startling prophecy was made that if von Bernstorff claimed the ownership of all the papers seized from von Igel he would be on his way out of this country within two weeks.

Reports from Washington had it that Secretary Lansing had promised to hand to the German ambassador those documents dealing with embassy business. In accordance with a request from Washington Superintendent William M. O'Leary, of the local bureau of investigation of the department of justice, was busy making photographs of all the documents and was shipping four copies of each paper by every mail to Washington.

Both the attorney-general and the secretary of state will go over the documents.

The seizure of the papers in von Igel's or von Papen's office gave new impetus to the grand jury investigation into German plots. The grand jury started afresh into the charges against von Papen, von Igel and Captain Tauscher in connection with the plan to destroy the Welland canal. It is said that a number of prominent Germans are involved and that super-seding indictments with new names are likely to be returned next week.

INDIANAPOLIS FIRM SUED

City of New Albany Demands Return of $10,000 From Tax Experts.

New Albany, Ind., April 20.—The legal department of the city of New Albany filed suit in the circuit court against Glenn and Vandever of Indianapolis, for return of $10,000 or more which is alleged to have been paid out of the city treasury under contract made by the county commissioners to pay the firm 35 per cent of taxes collected from sequestered property. It is alleged the city had entered into no contract with the firm and had made no appropriation for its service. The complaint petitions that the firm be enjoined from making any further claim on the city treasury and that Claude A. Sittson, treasurer, be enjoined from paying the firm any money belonging to the city.

PROSECUTION IS DROPPED

Man Reforms and Gets Employment With Auto Manufacturer.

Canton, O., April 19.—J. G. Reese, age thirty-three, wanted here for a $600 daylight robbery, and who forfeited his bond several weeks ago by not appearing for trial, walked into court and told a story of how he had been a "crook" for twenty years, serving three sentences. He said he finally went to Detroit and told his story to a prominent automobile manufacturer there.

The manufacturer hired him as an elevator man, and Reese said, this faith in him reformed him, and caused him to come here to surrender.

Court officials believed his story and declined to prosecute him, sending him back to Detroit, where he will receive $5 a day for his elevator duties.

RUN ON CHICAGO BANK

Boy's Yarn Starts Panic; Depositors Paid In Full.

Chicago, April 19.—A boy's wild yarn that the Logan Square Trust and Savings bank, a state institution, capitalized at $200,000, had not much money in it, started a run on the institution.

All depositors seeking their money were paid in full, the Central Trust company of Illinois and the Standard Trust and Savings bank sending to the Logan bank ample funds to meet all requirements. The bank will open as usual, according to the officers.

FIRE FOLLOWS EXPLOSION

Village Population Moves Out When Explosives Plant Is Damaged.

Pittsburg, April 19.—An explosion in the Heidelberg plant of the Aetna Chemical company near here, was followed by a fire which destroyed two buildings.

Fearing additional explosions, the entire population of the village moved out until the flames had been subdued. Officials of the plant, which has been working on war orders, refused to advance a theory as to the cause of the explosion which, with the fire, caused a loss of $50,000.

Husband Uses Bed Slat on Wife.

Petersburg, Ind., April 20.—Mrs. Alonzo Miley has a broken arm. Her mother, Mrs. Missouri Kellams, also has a broken arm. Her sister, Miss Alice Kellams, is bruised all over. Alonzo Miley is under arrest. It all resulted from a row when Miley persisted in moving their household good. He said his wife objected and in order to convince her and the others he used a bed slat on them.

Crushed by Falling Tree.

Bedford, Ind., April 20.—Mrs. Olive Younger, age thirty-nine, died of injuries suffered when she was caught by the limb of a falling tree which had been cut down by her husband, Oliver C. Younger, who was cutting railroad ties in a woods near their home. The woman's back was broken and her skull fractured. She is survived by her husband and two children.

Fifteen Executed.

El Paso, Tex., April 20.—General Gavira, commander of the Juarez garrison, has received a message from General Gutierrez, military governor of Chihuahua, saying that fifteen civilians concerned in a Villa plot to seize the Chihuahua garrison were executed by the firing squad.

WHAT 'DA 'U THINK OF THIS? SHOE LACES JUMP IN PRICE

All the American Firms Except One Are Filling War Orders and That One is Getting Rich.

This is the day of jumping prices and practically every line is affected by the unusual conditions. The reading public by experience has become accustomed to hearing about the advance in many commodities but most people will be surprised to hear that one of the biggest advances has been in the price of shoe laces.

Although the retail price has remained the same, except in certain kinds which sell for ten cents a pair, the wholesale quotation is almost one hundred per cent. higher than under normal conditions. The jump is attributed as usual to the war. It is explained that there are only four or five concerns manufacturing shoe laces and since the outbreak of the European troubles all of the firms except one have been filling war orders. This single firm has been giving attention to the domestic business and was quick to see the rare opportunity to boost the price. While the cost of production is only about two cents more on each gross the wholesale price has advanced forty-five cents.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

FISH AND GAME CLUB TO HOLD MEETING TO-NIGHT

Senator E. A. Norman, of Hope, to Present Several Important Matters to Members.

Senator E. A. Norman, of Hope, will address the meeting of the Jackson County Fish and Game Club at the city building to-night. The meeting will be called at 7 o'clock and all the members are urged to attend. Several of the officers and the directors of the organization are to be elected at this session, it is reported and other business of importance will be presented.

The club has already made applications for minnows to restock White River and other streams in this locality and they are expected to arrive at any time. The applications were filed with both the federal government and the state fish and game commission. Senator Norman was instrumental in organizing the local club and he has several interesting matters to present to-night.

ONE HUNDRED LEADING HOOSIERS 1816-1916

(Prepared for the United Press by the Centennial Department of the Indiana Historical Commission.)

THOMAS A. HENDRICKS (36) (1819-1885)

Thomas A. Hendricks, the undisputed leader of Indiana democracy for thirty years, was born in Muskingum county, Ohio, on September 7, 1819. He descended from Scotch ancestry and was reared in the Presbyterian faith. His parents moved to Shelby county, Ind., in 1822 and here young Hendricks received his earliest education, later attending Hanover college. After reading law under Judge Major of Shelbyville and Judge Thompson of Chambersburg, Penn., he began the practice in 1843. Entering politics he was elected to the legislature in 1848. He secured the passage of the act, authorizing the holding of a state constitutional convention in 1858, and was one of its most prominent members. From 1851 to 1855 he was a member of congress and was then appointed commissioner of the general land office by President Pierce. He superintended the disposal of more than 80,000,000 acres of land, the largest amount of business ever transacted by an official in the history of the office.

THE NOTE TO GERMANY

President Wilson's latest communication to the Imperial German Government which is virtually an ultimatum demanding that it abandon its policy of submarine warfare upon unarmed ships, is based on the law of nations and the rights of humanity. The note is direct and concise. The demand is emphatic that the German government square its policy with the accepted principles of international law. There is no room for quibbling. The reply to the last communication must be a direct acceptance or refusal. The terms indicate that the administration believes the time is past for parleying. The time for action has arrived.

The President recalls that at the time of the announcement of the present submarine policy he had grave fears that it would result in international complications, but says that assurances were repeatedly given that the lives of American citizens would be protected. Reference is made to the sinking of the Channel steamer Sussex and it is stated that if this were the only instance of its kind negotiations might be invited. But, the note continues, other similar cases have been reported in violation of the assurances given by the Imperial German Government and international law.

"The law of nations in these matters, upon which the Government of the United States based that protest, is not of recent origin or founded upon merely arbitrary principles set up by convention. It is based, on the contrary, upon manifest principles of humanity and has long been established with the approval and by the express assent of all civilized nations," declared the president.

The appendix to the formal note recounts in detail the attack on the Channel Packet Sussex with the view of showing that the vessel was sunk contrary to the assurances of the German government. The ultimatum is further given that diplomatic relations with the German Government will be severed unless its submarine methods are abandoned.

The note results in one of the serious situations that has confronted this country since the beginning of the European war. "The United States has been patient," says the President, and he gives warning that the time is now at hand when more drastic action will be taken by the administration unless the terms of the latest ultimatum are complied with in their entirety. The severance of diplomatic relations may not be followed by war, but history records but one instance where such action was taken and armed hostilities did not follow. The next step is up to Germany. The relations between the two powers have always been most friendly and the American people trust that this friendship may be continued uninterrupted.

FOR LOCAL APPLICATION

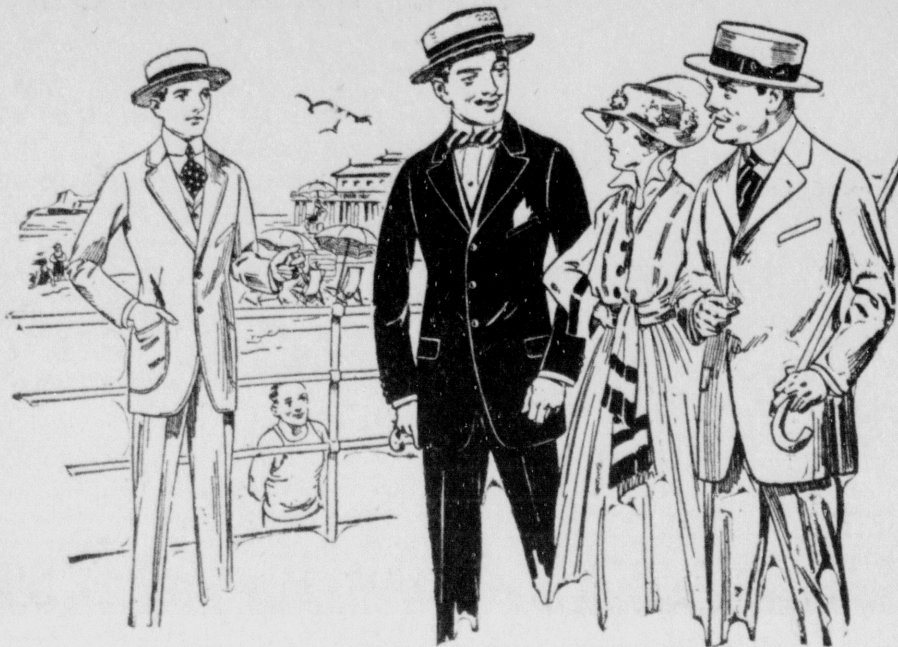

The relation of beautifying unsightly spots in the city to real estate values is pointed out by the Newcastle Courier in the following editorial:

Some one remarked the other day, when the proposal of local improvement was being discussed, that "Beauty is a luxury. We can't afford it." Was he right?

Here is one plain fact, and any experienced real estate man can verify it from his own observation. Take a Newcastle street of plain, simple houses, with no attempt whatever at ornamentation of any kind, just naked wood, bricks and cement. Suppose some morning this spring the residents should get together and decide that the street looked too bare and commonplace. Suppose they all agree to spend $50 in planting shrubs and trees, grading and sowing grass seed. Let them also agree to spend a few hours a week in keeping the place neat and in planting and tending flowers.

What would be the effect? Complete results, of course, would not show the first year. The second season the hard angles between earth and walls would be softened by a nest of flowering shrubbery. In a few years more the young trees, particularly if well selected with some quick growers, would provide some shade and screen.

would pick up as soon as the shrubs got started. When the trees got a little bigger, the whole character of that street would have changed. It would suggest culture, care, refinement. People from other districts would look at it longingly and would snap up empty houses. Eventually a place that cost $3,000 would be likely to sell for $3,500 to $4,000, because of the reputation and desirability of the neighborhood for residence.

People who say that beauty is a luxury know very little about human nature or business. A beautiful neighborhood is accepted as a sign of a higher scale of living. People feel that in moving into it they are improving social station, not to speak of the pleasure to the eye which beauty always gives.

LYCEUM PROGRAM FOR NEXT WINTER ANNOUNCED

Unusually Attractive Series of Entertainments Secured For 1916-17 Season.

The Lyceum Entertainment Association last night closed a contract with the Redpath Lyceum Bureau of Chicago for next winter's series of attractions, and the program secured will offer five of the highest class entertainments ever brought to Seymour.

Included in the list is an attraction absolutely unique in lyceum entertainment, the Parish Players of Chicago. This company, composed of professional theatrical people, all of whom have had much experience in high grade companies, was organized by one of the large Chicago churches for the purpose of presenting the better class of plays—a movement somewhat similar to the "Little Theater" idea. Their plays, presented at the Parish House, have received the highest praise from the Chicago critics. They will present three one act plays on their lyceum program.

Schildkret's Hungarian orchestra will be the headliner musical attraction. Sam Schildkret's orchestra is known all over the country as the premier Hungarian orchestra. The organization has been intact for several years, and plays with wonderful precision and effect. They furnish the music for the Longworth-Roosevelt wedding as well as many other social functions in Washington, New York and other cities.

Lyceum patrons who recall the splendid program given last winter by the American Quartette, will be pleased to know that this excellent company of entertainers is to be on the program again next year. This quartet presents, as will be recalled, Clayton Conrad, cartoonist, in addition to the vocal and instrumental music, and L. E. Gilbert, violin soloist and reader.

The Marigold Ladies Quartet, four talented and versatile young ladies, will give an evening of songs, instrumental music and specialties. Featured in this company are Miss Katherine La Sheck, who possesses a beautiful contralto voice and gives several Scotch songs in costume, and Miss Crosby, soprano, whose impersonations of Irene Franklin have never been equaled by any other ly-

Easter Cantata.

The Easter Cantata, "The Morn of Victory" will be given at the First Baptist Church tonight at 7:30 o'clock by the Junior department of the Sunday School. An excellent program has been arranged. All are invited. No admission fee, but a free will offering for the building fund will be received at the door.

The congestion of traffic on the Pennsylvania Lines between this city and Louisville continued today on account of the extra passenger and freight trains from the B. & O. branch being detoured through here. It is said that yesterday there was an average of one train for every five miles of track south of here. Superintendent E. W. Scheer, of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern, said today that the temporary trestle over Big Creek which is being built will likely be completed Saturday night.

WAR PRISONERS IN DENMARK

Belligerents May Establish Convalescent Camps on Danish Islands.

Copenhagen, Denmark, April 20.—At the suggestion of the warring powers a plan is being considered by the Danish authorities for bringing prisoners who are seriously ill to Denmark, where they can receive better treatment than is possible in the overcrowded camps in hostile countries. This would include prisoners from all the powers at war, but mainly from Germany. It is thought likely that one of the smaller German islands will be used for the purpose.

The Danish authorities and Danish people express great sympathy, and everything will be done to carry out the idea.

More Daylight For France.

Paris, April 19.—The law recently proposed authorizing the cabinet to advance the legal time by one hour during the period of the war was passed by the chamber of deputies. The purpose of the measure is to advance daily activities during the daylight hours.

Urges Preparedness.

Urbana, Ill., April 19.—President Edmund J. James told 2,000 students of the University of Illinois that while we are a peace loving nation, we must not neglect to be prepared for war, no matter what the pacifists may say.

Miss Alma Carpenter, living near Jaketown, is severely ill.

The machinery for the improvements in The Sanitary Ice Cream Co. plant has arrived from the manufacturer and will be placed in position immediately.

The funeral of Mrs. Newton Hayes which was to have been held this afternoon at two o'clock, has been postponed until tomorrow at 10. It will be held at the Pentecost church as was announced in the first place.

The under classes of the high school had their pictures taken this morning and the basket ball team was photographed this afternoon, for the senior annual which is nearing completion.

The high school orchestra entertained the student body this morning at the regular chapel period. The orchestra is under the direction of Miss Adelaide Gasaway. Several selections were given and received hearty applause by the entire student body.

Mrs. J. M. Mack and Ralph B. Mack, of Seymour were recent visitors at the big exhibit of Southern California products maintained in the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. The exhibit is the largest of any in the country maintained by a commercial organization. They also expect to visit the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Diego, which will remain open all year.

A peculiar auto party passed through here yesterday, the party consisted of a man and his wife and the pet, namely a dog. The dog seemed to be as important a factor in the party as the other two. It had its own seat and felt as important as a king. The party had traveled over the southern part of the United States and carried an entire equipment for camping, remaining at any place for quite a length of time. The outfit was one of the most complete that has passed through here for many days. They expect to be at their home near Racine, Wisconsin, in about three months.

A young man who was canvassing the city with post cards became so insistent that one lady should buy that she called the police but by the time the officer arrived at the house the peddler had gone. He got a good description of the man, however, and later found him in a restaurant. The man had told a "hard luck" story to the proprietor and was given a good meal. Upon being questioned he told conflicting stories of his place of residence and when he arrived in the city. It later developed that he was a member of a section crew working near this city and he was allowed his freedom upon promise that he would not attempt to peddle cards in the future.

MEETING HELD TO DECIDE PLANS FOR CLEAN-UP WEEK

Various Committees to be Named—Conference of General Committee is Held.

Definite plans for conducting the clean-up and paint-up campaign, May 1-6, were to be decided upon at a general meeting at the city building at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The meeting was called by Mrs. Harry M. Miller, general chairman of the clean-up and paint-up movement. The session was open to the public and suggestions for the success of the campaign were invited.

A conference of the committee recently appointed by Mrs. Millison Groub, president of the Tuesday Club, and Mayor Ross met at the latter's office yesterday afternoon and discussed in a general way the steps that should be taken. It was decided to divide the work as far as possible and accordingly committees on publicity, finance, children's campaign and removing the trash were named. The members of the various committees were to be made public at the general meeting this afternoon.

WOMAN'S PAGE

COOKING ECONOMY IS WORTH STUDY

To be economical without being mean, saving without being parsimonious, frugal without being grasping—these are the qualities which the ladies of Cranford strove to attain in their "elegant economies."

While the modern woman must of necessity take issue with those delightful ladies in many of their expedients for making a little go a very great way, the spirit which animated their gentle hearts is to be commended. The trouble with many women is their inability to discern the true proportion of things. Many a wife and mother will rush along at high pressure for years, taking upon her own shoulders the various burdens which husband and children should have carried for themselves, refusing all vacations with a "can't spare the time," only to break down at the last. Ten years of rest, of nursing, of weariness must intervene.

These are the poor creatures whose outer vesture of purple and linen, with abnormally long phylacteries of the latest style, covers a lamentable dearth of comfortable underwear, whose parlors, "dreams" of modern elegance though they may be, do not atone for the family beds, hard and "lumpy"; the family table skimpy as to food, untidy and mean as to dishes and linen, and the kitchen destitute of all conveniences for doing the work easily and in a sanitary manner. Then there is that other mistaken soul who "can't afford sufficient help to care for the children," "can't afford a washerwoman," "can't afford a good, warm floor covering for the nursery," "can't afford various needed comforts for herself," but can, as a consequence, "blow in" unlimited dollars for the druggist, the doctor the trained nurse, the sanitarium. Poor policy this!

It is a wise thing to have plenty of cold meat on hand for unexpected luncheons. This is inexpensive and in winter can be kept in good condition for days. Get four pigs' feet with legs to first joint and a shank of beef sawed and cut. Boil beef and pork in separate kettles with unsalted water to cover until the bones fall out of the pigs' feet and the beef is very tender. Lift the meat and the liquors in which they were cooked and set both pots away to cool. The next morning skim each free from the fat, which will have hardened on top. The beef liquor can now be utilized for the rich stock. The pork liquor should now be returned to the kettle, together with the meat, both pork and beef cut in small pieces. Add salt, pepper and any other seasoning desired, heat, then pour into molds. Some of these may be varied by adding to them slices of hard-boiled eggs.

Put a bunch of well washed tarragon in an earthen bowl and pour over it a pint of scalding hot vinegar. Cover closely and let stand overnight, then strain off the vinegar and bottle. Over the tarragon leaves left pour more hot vinegar, let stand several hours and turn off and bottle. This gives an excellent vinegar for salads and much cheaper than it can be purchased.

This is also an excellent roast for the holiday dinner. Buy the leg of mutton two or three days before you wish to serve it. Take off the "woolly skin" that has the strong taste on the outside and wipe carefully with a damp cloth. Then rub with a mixture of spices, using half a teaspoonful each of cinnamon, cloves, allspice, pepper and nutmeg; rub thoroughly and hang the mutton in a cool place for two days, then put in a baking pan, add four onions chopped fine and a cup of seedless raisins, and pour over all two quarts of sweet cider; cover the mutton with oiled paper or a regular dripping pan cover, put into a hot oven and bake until the mutton is quite brown; then reduce the heat and cook slowly for two hours, basting often; when half done sprinkle with salt to season. At serving time put the mutton on a hot platter, with raisins about it; boil the cider down quickly until it forms a rich sauce, strain, remove every particle of fat from the surface and pour into a heated sauce boat.

In preparing cranberry sauce the question as to whether it should be strained or not is one of individual preference. There is a growing feeling, however, that it is a culinary error to strain it, as the most delicious part of the peculiar acid of these berries lies in the skins, its flavor being developed in the cooking.

As a rule, the bright red Cape Cod berries are considered best, and certainly they make a brilliant showing.

Cranberries should always be cooked in porcelain, aluminum or granite, never in tin; be stirred with a wooden or silver spoon, never iron, and, if strained, put through a porcelain colander or hair sieve, never tin. Carelessness in this regard will produce a dark-colored, tinny mixture, not at all inviting to either eye or palate.

a bright color alternating with white, like we had last year, but revel in a riotous array of colored stripes in four or five hectic hues, like a Bakst ballet. They all are very short and full and button down the front with either yawning slashed pockets set in either side, or puffy pouched ones set on.

The artistic will come baskets set on their long sticks come in either natural coloring or may be stained to suit. They contain of course the most fascinating collection of gardening tools: a trowel whose handle is gay with paint, a pair of shears and your garden gloves.

Adorable watering pots blooming with hand painted nosegays, and rakes with well decorated handles, are a few other indispensable accessories of the fashionable garden.

Oh yes, and there are quaint and practical garden aprons too, the best model of which are the newest, is of striped material bound in a plain color or with a bib and straps over the shoulders.

It is long so that you may stoop in the wet grass without dampening your skirt or your arbor and yet at will it buttons up to a desirable shortness and by this act turns itself into a capacious pocket.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

The best way to avoid fatal poison mistakes, and every household is open to the possibility of such an occurrence, is to tie a small bell on the neck of each poison bottle, thus doing away with the slightest chance of error.

Papers spread over the kitchen table when you clean poultry will save you a lot of unpleasant cleaning.

Faded cottons may be bleached by boiling in cream tartar water.

If the enamel in your cooking utensils (or pots) has become chipped, discard them. You will notice it chipping off more all the time. These chips get in the food and enter the stomach. They are sharp as glass and may cause a great deal of stomach trouble.

To fasten dress with buttons which will not stand washing, use small safety pins on the inside. This will save time sewing them on each time after washing, and they will be easily taken off.

By cutting a lemon lengthwise in place of crosswise, twice as much juice will be obtained.

To renovate a shabby serge skirt, sponge it over with hot vinegar until the stains and grease marks disappear; then thoroughly press on the wrong side with a fairly hot iron.

To make laundry soap go farther, cut it into pieces and put in a dry place. It is more economical to use after it has become hard, as it does not waste so readily.

In making ices remember not to have them too sweet, or they will not freeze properly.

Paper napkins and tablecloths are becoming more and more favorites for hot weather use.

For mildew, wet the article and rub on it equal parts of soap and chalk mixed together, then place in the sun until the spot disappears.

Important Accessories of Dress

Capes and fichus and many dainty collars find themselves important among the accessories to be worn with the spring suit or coat. They are also designed for indoor wear on practical one-piece suits. Now that open throat lines are established for the coming season much of the new neckwear conforms to this mode. But high collars have not abdicated and they are well represented with cape attachment, or the vestee, or without either.

Crepe, chiffon, voile, organdie and net are the fabrics that are used for all sorts of neckwear. Hemstitching, lace and embroidery and very small tucks make up their decoration, with the tiniest of buttons serving often a double purpose. In high collars they provide the means of fastening, and an ornament, and they are often used merely for their decorative value.

right a small cape is finished at the edge with hemstitching and bordered with two narrow tucks. A wide standing turnover covers the neck and throat, finished with a small cravat bow at the front. This model is especially becoming to the thin woman.

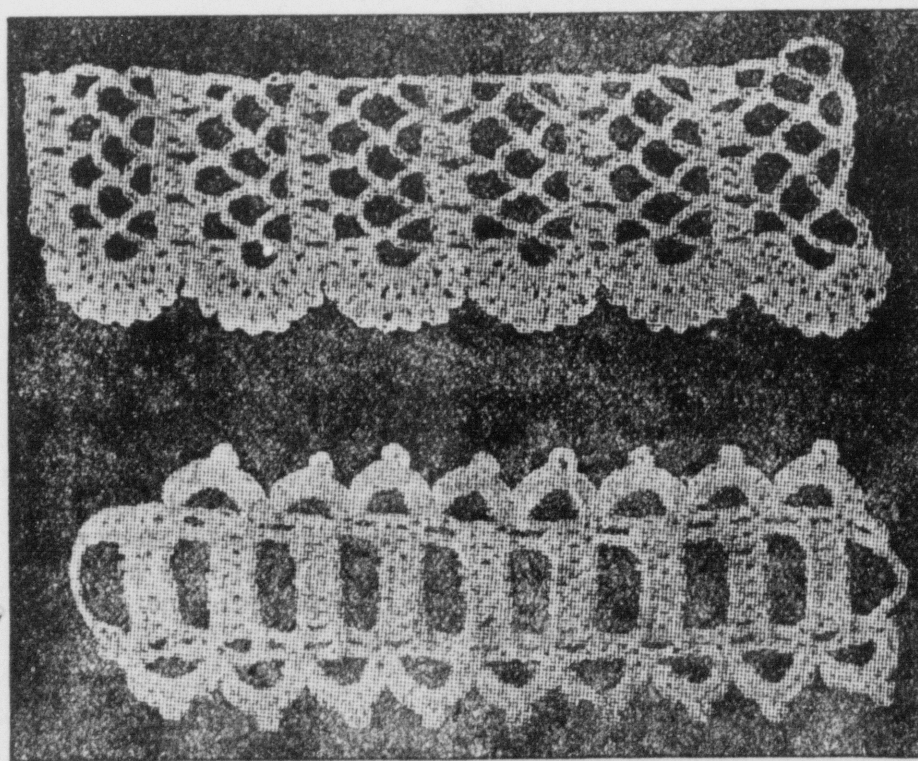

A good pattern, shown at the left and center in two views, begins as a small cape at the back but narrows to two slender points at the front. It is set on to a band and finished at the edge with hemstitching. Fine narrow lace insertion is set in at the back and at the ends of the front pieces, as shown in the picture. Embroidered dots are added to the lace decoration.

Narrow cluny, hand crochet, and tatting insertions are recommended for these neckpieces. Val is always pretty, but has been in use so long that it has lost prestige. Nothing is prettier than tatting, either as a finishing for edges or in medallion or band inserts.

Women Who Lead the Way

Mary Goddard—the Oldest Living "Preacher." (By Mary Dille.)

Today Mary Goddard will celebrate her 106th birthday anniversary. Sunday as usual she will likely go to the little Quaker meeting house, where she will preach as she has done for the past eighty years, for notwithstanding her advanced age, Mary Goddard is still actively engaged in the only interests she has ever known.

The venerable woman lives in Brunswick, Maine, where she has watched the growth of the Society of Friends through three generations. She began her duties as "preaching elder" many years before the use of railroads for practical purposes in the district where she lived. She traveled to her devotions in Newport, Rhode Island, a distance of two hundred miles by chaise. With others of her faith, she followed the custom of the times and enjoyed the hospitality of other Friends en route.

She is the single survivor of the period when the men of the church wore their hats during the services and the women removed theirs while speaking. At that time the church was divided into two sections with a curtain between. On one side sat the men of the congregation and on the other the women. Her preaching career reaches back beyond the time when musical instruments were first introduced into her church or Bible schools had been started.

Mary Goddard is remarkable not so much for the things that she has done as those that she has not done. She has lived all of her life within a radius of a few miles of the home that she now occupies in Brunswick. In the pursuit of her duties as "preaching elder" her work has been to bring material aid as well as inspiration to the people about her. The events of her life have been the quarterly Quaker meetings which she has attended, at a distance from her home.

The preaching elders of the Quaker church differ from the rest of the congregation in that they occupy a bench facing the main body of the church. They speak when they feel the inspiration to do so and are silent when they do not feel inclined to speak. Much of the responsibility of the needs of the congregation reverts to them.

Mary Goddard is surprising youthful for her years. She appears little older than the average woman of seventy. She is still vitally interested in the welfare of the people about her, particularly that of the younger generation and at a time of life when most women would willingly consent to be ministered to, Mary Goddard is still ministering. She is a familiar figure in her community in her quiet Quaker shawl and bonnet. As frequently as not she goes about her religious duties unattended and is often on the street alone.

FAVORITE RECIPES.

HALIBUT WITH WHITE SAUCE.

A little over one and a half pounds of halibut should suffice and the fish must be put into a kettle in which enough water to cover it has been made warm. Allow fifteen minutes for boiling, judging when it is done by the appearance of the flesh, which should be creamy and which ought to come away easily from the bone. Drain well and serve with sliced lemon. A simple sauce, less rich than that technically known as hollandaise, is made by adding a good piece of butter and a beaten egg to white sauce and turning it creamy over the fire without allowing it to boil.

NEW DUMPLINGS.

Put two cups boiled potatoes through ricer when cold; add one egg, pinch salt, a little baking powder, enough flour to make stiff dough. Mix well with the hands. Have ready some small squares of bread that have been browned in butter in frying pan. Break off pieces of dough, put piece of bread in center of each, roll up in ball so bread is well covered (don't make balls any larger than a good sized walnut). Have kettle ready with boiling salted water. Drop in balls, cover and boil till they come to the top. Serve at once. Good with any kind of gravy, but delicious with sauerkraut.

STUFFED EGGS FOR LUNCHEON.

Put six eggs into cold water, boil fifteen minutes, put back in cold water (keep whites of eggs a good color). Cut eggs in halves lengthwise and take out yolks. Pound yolks in a mortar with two tablespoons chopped cold meat. Add one teaspoon chopped parsley, salt and pepper to taste and two tablespoons melted butter. Mix, fill hollows of egg whites, join halves, dip in beaten egg, roll in fine bread crumbs, fry a pale brown color in plenty of smoking hot fat. Decorate with parsley and serve very hot.

CHICKEN EN CASSEROLE.

For chicken en casserole the following recipe may be suggested:

Brown a trussed chicken in a large casserole with an ounce of butter. Keep it moist with stock and let it stew slowly for an hour, unless it is a tough bird, when it will require a little more cooking. Season with pepper and salt. Some cooks add a few cut vegetables and a few button onions. A thin slice or two of bacon adds piquancy to the dish.

GRAHAM COOKIES.

One egg, one cup white sugar, one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon cinnamon, one cup sour milk or buttermilk, one teaspoon soda dissolved in the milk, two cups graham flour and one cup chopped raisins. Drop on greased pan, bake in moderate oven.

APPLE CHARLOTTE.

Apple charlotte should be prepared thus:

Grease a charlotte mold. Line it neatly with bread cut into long fingers and dipped in oiled butter. Fill with apples previously stewed and seasoned with lemon. Cover the top with breadcrumbs and a few little bits of butter and bake in a good oven for about three-quarters of an hour. Serve hot with a sauce around it.

MACARONI A LA ITALIENNE.

Boil one-fourth pound macaroni in water until tender; drain. Thicken half-pint milk with two tablespoons flour, add two tablespoons cream, one teaspoon dry mustard, a little white pepper and salt. Stir in this one-half pound grated cheese; boil all together a few minutes, add macaroni, boil ten minutes. Serve hot.

CRANBERRY SAUCE WITH RAISINS.

Add one cup seeded raisins to one quart cranberries. Pour over them a cup of boiling water, boil twenty minutes, rub through sieve, then add one and one-half cups seeded raisins scalded and drained. Cook five minutes, stirring constantly, then turn into a mold. Chill and serve.

CORN BREAD.

Two cups corn meal, one cup flour, two tablespoons sugar, two eggs, one-half teaspoon salt, two heaping teaspoons baking powder, one pint sweet cream. Put all in mixing bowl and give vigorous mixing, turn into well greased and floured pan and bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

BRAN BREAD.

One cup brown sugar, one egg, one and one-half cups sour milk or buttermilk, one teaspoon soda dissolved in the milk, one and one-half cups graham flour, one teaspoon salt; may also add one cup raisins if like. Bake one hour slowly. This makes one loaf.

DUTCH CRULLERS

Two eggs, one teaspoon of grated nutmeg, one cup of cream, one-fourth teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of baking powder, sufficient flour to mix into a soft dough. Roll out, cut in squares, cut several times in the center with a jagging iron; fry brown in a kettle of deep hot fat.

HERMITS

One cup brown sugar, one egg, butter size of walnut, one cup nuts chopped fine (or currants), pinch salt, one cup sour milk, one teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon cinnamon, enough flour to make quite a stiff batter. Put one teaspoon baking powder in flour.

DELICIOUS RAISIN BREAD

One big cup brown sugar, one cup sour milk (dissolve one teaspoon of soda in part of milk), add pinch of salt, two cups graham flour, big cup of chopped raisins. Put in small deep cake pan and bake fifty minutes in very slow oven.

MAPLE WALNUT DESSERT

Dissolve one package peach or orange gelatin in half pint boiling water. Add half pint maple syrup. When nearly cold, add one cup broken walnut meats. Set away to harden. Serve with whipped cream.

MARGARET MASON'S FASHION LETTER

(Written for the United Press.)

New York, April 20.—When you stand in the midst of your garden, whether it be a sunken Italian one or a raised window box, do you want to look the fairest flower of the lot?

If you do, it's simple, Maud. All you need is a smock of becoming hue, a wide floppy straw hat and one of those fascinating garden baskets raised on a long wicker stick.

All your zinnias, gladiolas, begonias and cannas will simply droop their heads in the face of such a ravishing combination.

Surely Maud Muller must have been thus attired when her Judge lingered a bit ere he rode by. Most any good judge nowadays would do the same.

Beginning at the top the crowning glory of the garden outfit is the hat; and its only essentials are that it be big, floppy and becoming.

Those of the cane seat weaves are smart, bound in a color to match your smock, with a twist of the same around the crown. Peanut straws, leghorns, panamas and loose grass woven hats are all lovely; and wide brimmed ones covered in flowered cretonne or awning stripes to match your skirt also are good.

If you want to go in for Oriental gardening the artistic Coolie hats are perfect, but if you top yourself off thus you will have to taboo the smock and awning stripe skirt, for garments modeled after a Chinese woman's coat and skirt. Otherwise your outfit would not be in perfect accord according to aesthetic Mabel. These Chinese effects really are the very newest spring crop of gardening gear and most original.

The awning stripe skirts this season are not only the broad stripes of

CHAPTER V.

The Hermit Sings.

The next morning I demanded that Mrs. Temple again put me up some lunch. "For," said I, "I'm going to postpone meeting this broken-down wreck of a perhaps once proud female as long as possible."

"Maybe when you see her drive by you'll be sorry," Mrs. Bert smiled. "I shall be working on the south side of the house," I retorted.

I had not been long at my place, indeed, I had scarcely finished watering my seedbed and carting out my daily stint of two barrowloads of slash from the orchard, when I heard the road scraper rattling over the bridge by the brook. Mike came from the vegetable garden and met his "frind Morrissy," to whom I was ceremoniously presented.

The scraper was a large affair with flat-tired iron wheels and a blade eight feet long. The way that eight-foot blade, with four horses hauling it, peeled off the old furrows and brought the top soil down from the high side to the low made my poor efforts with the scoop look puny enough. The lawn was shaping up so fast that I began once more to grow expansive.

"It really won't be square," thought I, "because my pergola will cut off twelve feet of the length, and if I have flower beds by the roses they'll cut off some more. I guess those roses ought to be one hundred and twelve feet from the house."

I threw down my shovel, went over to the row of stakes, and moved them south again, twenty-five feet, having added thirteen feet as I walked; then I called out to "frind Morrissy" to bring his scraper.

"Sure," said Mike, "you'll git it right yet. But I was goin' to put me cauliflowerers there."

I paid "frind Morrissy"—for the town—as the far-off noon whistle at Slab City blew, and took my lunch down to the brook while the scraper rattled off down the road.

The brook reminded me of the pool I was going to build, and the pool of a vague dream, last night of the new boarder, and then, with the patness of a "well-made" play the boarder herself entered, as it were. That is, I heard the buggy coming, and the voice of Bert. I lay down flat behind the tall weeds and grasses, and remained hidden till the buggy had passed.

"Confounded petticoats!" thought I. "Well, if she tries to advise me, I'll snub her so she won't try a second time!"

BERT WEEDON, G. F. P. A.,
510 Board of Trade,
Indianapolis.

Then I finished my lunch, and lay for a quarter of an hour lazily regarding the sky, a great blue sky with cloud ships floating at anchor in its depths, while the indescribable fragrance of May in moist places filled my nostrils and a song sparrow practiced in the alders. As I got up to return to my work, I saw suddenly that the old apple trees in my orchard were showing pink—just a frail hint of it in the veil of young green. A great cumulus cloud piled up like a Himalayan peak in the west beyond my mouse-gray dwelling. To the left, the new lawn was shiny brown, and as I climbed the slopes the smell of it came to me. Out still farther to the left my land was already staked in rows of packed earth, neatly. The scene was beautiful to my eyes, and the imagined beauty of tomorrow made me almost run through the orchard to leave my lunch basket in the kitchen and get my tools for the afternoon's work. At five o'clock, as Joe was leaving the garden, and Mike had gone to the barn to milk the cows, I, too, put up my tools, resolved to enjoy an hour's loaf—my first since I bought the farm!

I scrubbed my hands and face at the kitchen sink in a tin basin which recalled my childhood, took a long draft from the tin dipper, filled my pipe, and strolled down through the budding orchard toward the brook. The song sparrow was still singing. The cloud ships were still riding at anchor. Even with my pipe in my mouth I could smell the odor of moist places in May. Walking beside the brook, I suddenly found the green spears of an iris plant amid the grasses. A few steps farther on, under the maples, the ground was blue and white with violets and anemones. Then the brook entered the pines, hissing a secret as it went, and I followed it into their cool hush.

I had scarcely gone six paces when I heard the crackle of footsteps on dead twigs somewhere ahead of me, and a moment later the vague form of a woman was visible making her way amid the impeding dead branches. I stood still. She did not see me till she was close up. Then she gave a slight start and said, "I beg your pardon. I trust I am not trespassing."

I looked at her, while my pipe bowl was hot in my calloused hand. She was scarce more than a girl, I fancied, pale and unmistakably not of this country world. I cannot say how she was dressed, save that she wore no hat and looked white and cool. But I saw that she had very blue eyes on each side of a decidedly tilted nose, and these eyes were unmistakably the kind which twinkle.

"Trespassing is a relative term," said I, after this, I fear, rather rudely prolonged scrutiny.

"You talk like 'Hill's Rhetoric,'" she smiled, with a quick glance at the incongruity of my clothes.

"Naturally," I replied. "It was the textbook I formerly used with my classes."

There was a little upward gurgle of laughter from the girl. "Clearness, force and elegance, wasn't that the great triumvirate?" she said.

TEUTONS DRIVEN FROM TRENCHES

New Attack by Germans at Verdun Futile.

TURKS MEET MORE DEFEATS

Intense Fighting Develops on Eastern Front Where the Russians Drive Germans Out of Trenches—Capture Hills From Ottomans.

London, April 22.—A new attack was directed by the Germans against the French lines at Les Esparges, in the Meuse region, southeast of Verdun. After an all-day battle of intensity, during which mass charges of German troops three times rolled against the tricolor positions, they were finally driven out in a counter attack.

The forces of the crown prince, after failing for the first and second time, gathered new impetus for the third assault and, despite the dead and wounded which fell in clusters as they charged stubbornly forward, succeeded in capturing a temporary footing in the French trenches along a front of about 200 meters. Wearing by the terrific assault and the necessary defense fighting, the French rested several hours, then launched a counter attack, which, according to Paris, swept the Germans out of all the trenches they had entered previously.

Berlin, in the war office statement, declares that a stone quarry east of the Meuse across from the fortress of Verdun, which was strongly fortified by the French and was considered an excellent vantage point, was captured by them during the day's fighting. The French official statement, however, mentions no infantry fighting except that in the Woivre, and declares that the day was quiet in the immediate neighborhood of Verdun except for a violent artillery bombardment by the Germans in the region of Douaumont and Vaux, east of the Meuse.

Intense fighting again has developed between the Germans and Russians in the Dvinsk region on the eastern front, Petrograd announcing that during the night the Germans poured a tremendous fire into one of the Muscovite trenches at the village of Givovka, then attacked and carried it. The Russians later recaptured the position by a counter attack.

The pursuit of the Turks continues in the Caucasus region, the Russians having carried by a night assault a chain of high hills which had been strongly organized by the Ottomans west of Trerum. Four Turkish officers and a number of men were captured. The Turks left hundreds of dead upon the field, says the Russian statement. It is declared that the Turks who fought here were those released from the fighting at the Dardanelles.

Comparatively little of importance occurred on the Balkan or Mesopotamian fronts during the day.

Gold Standard in Turkey.

Berlin, April 20.—The Turkish government has introduced the gold standard, with the gold plaster as the monetary unit, the Overseas News agency says.

THEODORE F. BURTON

Declares Intervention in Mexico Is Necessary.

Cleveland, O., April 19.—Theodore F. Burton, formerly United States senator from Ohio, declares that intervention is now the only way to solve the Mexican problem. The American people, he says, cannot allow Columbus to go unavenged.

RALSTON TO SOUND KEYNOTE

Designated as Temporary Chairman of Indiana Democratic Convention.

Indianapolis, April 20.—Governor Ralston has been designated by Chairman Bernard Korbly of the Democratic state committee as temporary chairman for the state convention next Wednesday. Representative Lincoln Dixon of the Fourth district will be permanent chairman unless developments at Washington make it impossible for him to attend the convention. The "keynote" speech is to be made by the governor.

The governor will prepare his "keynote" address this week. It was said that it will be short and to the point and that not to exceed thirty minutes will be required in delivering it. The governor will endorse the president and his administration strongly and will praise the present state administration. He will reply briefly to the criticism made by Judge Quincy A. Myers as temporary chairman of the Republican state convention.

FOUND DEAD IN WATER POOL

Matthew Cunningham's Body Recovered by Section Men.

Vincennes, Ind., April 20.—Matthew Cunningham, age ninety, a retired farmer, was found dead in a pool of water six miles north of this city by section workmen on the Vandalia railroad. He had wandered away from home.

Dr. S. L. Carson, the coroner, said after an investigation that Mr. Cunningham had come to his death as a result of striking his head on a wooden trestle. The indications are that he went to the pool of water to bathe the wound on his head.

Mr. Cunningham was a native of Longford county, Ireland, and served as superintendent of the Knox county poor farm for seven years. A son, Thomas Cunningham, and a number of grandchildren survive.

NO ARRESTS IN MURDER CASE

Son-in-Law of Aged Couple Not Held as Reported.

Batesville, Ind., April 20.—Contrary to reports sent out it was announced by the sheriff that Lynn Wager, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Brown, who were murdered in their home, and Wager's seventeen-year-old son, were not arrested in connection with the crime. No arrests have been made. The erroneous report of Wager's arrest is said to have been made by a neighbor. The coroner completed his investigation, but no verdict has yet been announced.

Will Establish School Dental Clinic. South Bend, Ind., April 20.—Through the influence of the Visiting Nurse association of South Bend, arrangements have been made to establish a dental clinic in the high school for the benefit of all school children. The clinic will be maintained for one year.

"Drys" Make Big Gains. Sioux Falls, S. D., April 20.—The cause of prohibition in South Dakota gained heavily as a result of the municipal election. Fourteen cities and towns went from the "wet" to the "dry" column. No "dry" towns voted for the return of saloons.

We have also received copies of the Sunday edition of the New York Times, in which has been published each week for three months a supplement on Shakespeare. It contains articles on various phases of the life of this greatest of dramatists and on the study and appreciation of his works; all by eminent authorities, and illustrated by unusually clear, striking pictures in Brown. Ask to see them. A list of the Shakespeare books in the Library is printed elsewhere in this paper, and the books themselves are on the desk at the Library.

Library hours:

10 a. m. to 8:30 p. m. Sunday 1 to 5 p. m. (Reading only).

Why Read Shakespeare?

We are more intimate with Shakespeare's men and women than we are with our contemporaries, and they are, on the whole, better company. They are more beautiful in form and feature, and they express themselves in a way that the most gifted strive after in vain.

Alexander Smith.

William T. Stead says of Hamlet: "It was one of the turning points of my life. I was fascinated. Every week until the series were complete I devoured the two new plays contained in each number. They enormously widened the horizon of life; they added new and vivid color to existence, and they intensified my perception of the tragic issues of love and of death that are bound up in every human heart. But that was not all; Shakespeare was to me the key to all literature."

Shakespeare is a well-spring of characters which are saturated with the comic spirit; with more of what we call blood-life than is to be found anywhere out of Shakespeare.

George Meredith.

As the spokesman of a race to which has fallen a large share of the government of the modern world, and as the chief exponent in literature of the fundamental conception of life held by the Western world at a time when the thought of the East and the West are being brought into searching comparison, Shakespeare must be studied in the near future with a deeper recognition of the significance of his work and its value as a source of spiritual culture.
